

about Aircraft companies in Ukraine, the boolean command Ukraine and Aircraft will return information that has BOTH the words Ukraine and Aircraft contained within it.

- Use of Search engines via the World Wide Web. These work in a similar way to GOPHER and VERONICA, but have much better user support and are far easier to operate. A search via a search engine involves entering the required keywords. Search engines provide links to instantly connect to the site of the results. Alta Vista and Yahoo are two of several excellent search engines now accessible via the World Wide Web. Yahoo is available at URL <http://www.yahoo.ca/>.

Alta Vista is located at:

SOME UKRAINIAN WWW LINKS

Among the popular Ukrainian INTERNET sites on the hot list are Canada's Ukraine WWW Home Page (Oleh Baran): URL: <http://www.physics.mcgill.ca/www/oleh/ukr-info.html>, which points to many Ukraine sources: Ukrainian Map Server (Gerry Kokodyniak & Andrew Melnyk); in the US: Infomeister Ukraine WWW Page (Eng/Ukr), and Ukraine FAQ.

A University of Toronto site lists connections to most Ukrainian sites. URL: <http://me.me.utoronto.ca/grad/kokody2/Ukraine3/ukraine3.html> Pointers are ste to locations in many countries, including Canada (121 links!!!), U.S. (369 links), Australia (7 links), Israel (9 links), Austria (51 links), France (8 links), Germany (2 links), Italy (5 links), Latvia (10 links), Netherlands (2 links), Poland (1 link), Russia (6 links), U.K. (10 links) and, of course, Ukraine (331 links). A number of Ukrainian INTERNET News Groups are available on Ukraine and Ukrainian topics, including: alt.current-events.ukraine and soc.culture.ukrainian. The last group's e-mail address is: ukes-social@soma.crl.mcmaster.ca.
